Dear USSAAC colleagues:

As you know, USSAAC is an ATIA affiliate partner and as such, USSAAC members received a discount on ATIA registration. It was great that so many of you were able to attend our meet-up in Orlando!

Thanks to those of you who have signed up to volunteer on a committee; you should hear from the committee chair soon. Congratulations. Go to USSAAC members who presented and shared their AAC knowledge – especially those who were first time presenters. Our USSAAC-co-sponsored pre-conference session with John Costello and members of his team from Boston Children's was a great success. And of course, congratulations to member Tina Moreno, who won USSAAC's early bird "renew-ers or joiners" drawing for a free registration to ATIA 2020!

Speaking of renewing or joining...please remember to renew your membership now, so you won't miss any of our 2019 membership benefits! More information is available at www.ussaac.org/membership

Are you attending an upcoming conference at which AAC is represented? Contact membership@ussaac.org if you want a USSAAC badge ribbon to wear, and if you are willing to distribute information about USSAAC and/or the upcoming ISAAC 2020 conference in Mexico!

And one more reminder: Purchase with purpose. If you ever shop though amazon.com, please consider using amazon smile instead! It's simple and a painless way for you to contribute to USSAAC! Select USSAAC as your charity at <http://smile.amazon.com/ch/46-0406685> and Amazon donates to USSAAC while you shop.

Check in with our website to learn about our upcoming 2019 webinar events, and keep up with our SpeakUp! Blog. Enjoy the lengthening days ahead...

Best,

Wendy Quach, Ph.D. CCC-SLP
USSAAC, President
