Toronto, Canada – February 15th, 2022: The ISAAC Executive Board has made the decision to re-schedule the planned ISAAC Conference Cancún to 2023, with specific dates to be announced as early as possible in 2022.

The Conference Cancún Leadership Team has been engaged in discussions with all of our key stakeholders, regarding our scheduled in-person ISAAC Conference in Cancún, México.

These discussions have been focused on ensuring that as an organization, ISAAC is able to bring a globally responsive and proactive approach to dealing with the current world situation, while ensuring that we balance multiple perspectives and the challenges and opportunities that affect us all.

We are committed to offering a high-quality and in-person conference in Cancún that is both safe and inclusive for all of our stakeholders. ISAAC also recognizes that it is still difficult for many individuals to travel internationally.

We want to hold this conference at a time and in a manner that makes ISAAC Cancún the most accessible and inclusive it can be, and that allows the maximum number of attendees from all our different stakeholder groups globally, to participate. We are also committed to the concept of planning solutions that are agile, creative, collaborative, and innovative in their approach.

The venue for ISAAC Conference Cancún remains the same, namely the Cancún ICC.

In 2022, ISAAC International plans to host a series of engaging online discussions involving all of our stakeholder groups (people who use AAC, family members, professional practitioners, researchers, and our sponsors and exhibitors). We will provide updates in the coming weeks.

Best wishes from all of us at ISAAC for your good health and safety.
