

Centering AAC User Perspectives to Enhance Professional Learning and Student Growth

*December 3, 2025
7:00-8:00 p.m. EDT*

PRESENTED BY:

Mateo Moreno, Jordan Murray and Bre Hof

ABOUT THE PRESENTERS:

Mateo Moreno has used AAC since the age of 4. He uses a Saltillo NovaChat as his primary communication system, plus his iPhone, speech, gestures, signs and facial expressions. He is a member of the U.S. Society for AAC and plays an active role in the AAC Speaker Connection. He presents nationally for conferences, family events, universities and school districts to share his story about his AAC journey. Mateo visits classrooms to talk with students about his lived experiences and how everyone can work together to ensure inclusion happens while giving students pointers about talking with their peers who use AAC. He's worked as a mentor at AAC camps in Empire, Colorado. He is a PRC-Saltillo Ambassador.

Jordan Murray, M.A., CCC-SLP, is a school-based speech language pathologist and AAC consultant for Gratiot Isabella RESD. Her special interests in the field include AAC assessment and family coaching. She enjoys working with students of all ages. In her free time, Jordan loves spending time with her husband and son, going to her family cottage on the lake, and enjoying walks.

Bre Hof, M.A., CCC-SLP, is a school-based speech language pathologist and AAC consultant for Gratiot Isabella RESD in Mid-Michigan. Her special interests in the field include AAC assessment, inclusion, literacy access for all, and child-led play-based therapy. While not working, Bre enjoys spending time with her family, collecting new hobbies, and maintaining her family's small flower farm and homestead

SEMINAR DESCRIPTION:

This presentation will provide ideas for building capacity, challenging limiting beliefs, and creating meaningful relationships by collaborating with AAC users to share real-life AAC experiences. We will discuss incorporating AAC user perspectives when developing evidenced-based professional development opportunities for professional and paraprofessional staff. We will also discuss the impact of shifting the perspective of "Speech-Language Pathologist as the expert on AAC" to acknowledging that the true experts are AAC users themselves. Mateo will share his perspective on why AAC users should play a big role in the conversations. Bre and Jordan will outline the impact collaboration with Mateo has made on staff mindsets and the data we've seen as a result of an ongoing journey to build an AAC community that supports each other in our rural setting.
